

Announcing the quarter-finalists for the 2017 Regenerative Business Prize!

The nomination process was rigorous and we greatly appreciate the efforts of each nominator. A large team of reviewers helped our nominators through a developmental pre-proposal process, before passing the nominations on to a judging panel for careful consideration.

Our purpose with the Prize and the Summit to grow a community of business leaders who understand the meaning and practice of regeneration. This prize has no winners—only honorees on an ongoing journey. There are no exemplars of regeneration, there is no end point of achievement. This is a path we can all step onto.

Congratulations to the following 2017 Regenerative Business Prize quarter-finalists:
